EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The executive board of the Mattapoisett Woman's Club will meet this Thursday, September 13th, at the home of the president, Mrs. Harold Banks. Coffee will be served at 9:30 and the meeting will follow at 10 promptly.

POWER SQUADRON COURSE

You can enjoy safe boating through knowledge and know-how. This is why the Mattapoisett Power Squadron is again presenting its program of lectures on small boat handling, seamanship and safety afloat.

February 2, 1914 the U. S. Power Squadron was formed, the purpose was to train yachtsmen in the proper operation of their crafts. In 1927, the present educational system of courses, written by the national organization but taught and administered by local squadrons was in effect.

High standards set in the early days have been maintained. Insistence on a knowledge of basic fundamentals as well as the modern short cut methods, produces men and women with a nautical knowledge often surpassing that obtained at Professional Schools.

The free piloting courses are given by over 300 squadrons to over 50,000 men and women hood fund drive gets a free ticket to the gala birthday dinner for former Preisdent Eisenhower at the Commonwealth Armory," said Tripp, chairman of the GOP Finance campaign here.

"Raising $100 is not too difficult," he said, "with many local Republicans and Independents donating $10 or $20 to the GOP campaign chest.

"No dollar you spend accomplishes as much as the dollar you give to the political party you believe in," the chairman said. "With ample money, we can mount an aggressive campaign to elect the Republican leaders this State so sorely needs."

Over 5000 Bay State Republicans are expected to be on hand to wish Ike a happy birthday. Also attending the gala event will be all the GOP state ticket candidates headed by Gov. John Volpe.

"Many happy returns to Ike on October 15 means many happy returns for the GOP on November 6," said Tripp.

in the closing months before elections. My views reflect the concern expressed by a prominent Democratic member of Congress who has reminded us that the Federal debt, for the first time in history, is in excess of $300 Billion. Interest alone on this debt increases the annual tax load to almost $10 Billion. When one recalls that these taxes are, at least indirectly, part of the cost of doing business in this country - and that we must remain competitive, costwise, with foreign manufacturers - it is not strange that we are concerned about spending and taxes.

Congress, and the business world too, are concerned not only with unnecessary and inflationary spending. We are troubled also by the Administration's request for increased Executive powers - largely at the expense of Congressional authority - in the fields of commerce, taxation, public works and fiscal policy.

MONKEY BUSINESS

And, speaking of spending, there is a standing joke about politicians being "strongly in favor" of Motherhood...but members of Congress winced at the recent disclosure that the Federal government plans to spend $1,201,925 in the next six years for the study of the "Affectional Relationship of an Infant Monkey and His Mother". There are many other questionable items in the Federal budget, of course. The more conservative Congressmen devote a great deal of time to rooting them out, but to spend just one hour in study on every $1 Million item in the current budget, for example, would take the working time of one Congressman from now until the year 2000!!

Another example of the need for a close watch on the budget was the State Department's proposal to spend $400,000 on television sets for residents of African villages which have long filibuster. It was a blow for free enterprise when, after more than 30 years of jealously guarding the right to unlimited debate, the Senate invoked the Cloture Rule to end the stalling tactic. In the House we passed the bill by a resounding 354-9 vote that would permit private industry to play an important role in this new program.

HEED HUNTING HINTS

With the hunting season opening in New England, motorists as well as hunters should practice safety measures, reports the Automobile Legal Association.

Just as hunters keep a sharp eye for game, drivers should also keep a sharp eye, but to avoid killing or injuring the game or themselves, points out Philip C. Wallwork, ALA's Safety Director.

Inattentive drivers who make sudden stops and swerve to avoid hitting animals are heading for an accident. Wallwork suggests that a steady headlight beam may hypnotize the animal into immobility, but blinking the lights generally breaks the spell and frightens the animals from the highway.

Birds can be dangerous when flushed onto the highway and then fly into oncoming automobiles. Drivers should be keen bird watchers, and honk the car horn to warn birds.

pomona; Mrs. John Barber, flora; Mrs. Clifton Hatton, pianist; Albert Pemberton, executive committee for three years; and Mrs. James W. Harris, Juvenile Grange matron.

Mrs. Lemuel LeBaron, master, conducted the meeting. Introduced as a guest was Clayton Westgate of Acushnet, master-elect of Sippican Pomona Grange. The Sippican Pomona installation will be held October 6th in Acushnet.

Annual report of the Home and Community Service Committee was given by the chairman, Mrs. Clifton Hatton. She also announced a plumbing fund card party for 1:30 P.M. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. John Barber, Fairhaven Road. A meeting of the committee will be held Thursday at 1:30, also at the home of Mrs. Barber.

Mrs. LeBaron thanked all those who participated in the successful fair. More than $379 was realized from the event.

The birthday of Leonard A. Randall was recognized.

Punch and cookies were served by hostesses, Mrs. Harry Downing, Mrs. Clifford Atkinson and Mrs. Edward Kane.

DOLLAR DIPLOMACY AND SAFETY

Since World War 1, when the number of highway deaths and accidents started their annual increases, hundreds upon hundreds of schemes have been tried by federal, state and local governments to stem the slaughter. While all different they, nonetheless, have one basic theory in common .. make it so expensive to have an accident or to violate a law that everyone will drive safely... In other words, hit the driver in the pocketbook.

There have been merit plans, point systems, compulsory insurance, financial responsibility fines, etc. There is now a movement in this country to make every driver pay for the cost of installing seat-belts in his car.

Highway safety experts are beginning to look at the theory of Dollar Safety in the same light as Dollar Diplomacy, i.e. IT DOESN'T WORK. They are slowly discovering that an increase in insurance premiums, a higher fine schedule, increase in registration fees or mandatory installation of safety gadgets does not make a safer driver. In fact, ALA safety people think these increased costs may make drivers more rebellious and thus poorer drivers.

Are not all of these many plans merely an attempt to skirt the main problem rather than coming face to face with it? Are not the driver himself and his license, not his pocketbook, the factors which all such plans are trying to reach? If so, let's face it and do something about it.

Is the youngster with a new license a safer driver because he is made to pay an additional insurance premium? Of course not! Is the speeder suddenly transformed into a Casper Milquetoast when he is fined $10? We doubt it. Do steadily-rising insurance costs in Massachusetts, for example, deter drivers from killing each other? Not according to the latest fatality figures. Will paying $25 for the installation of seat-belts make a driver fasten them when he runs down to the corner store for a loaf of bread? The answer is negative even though the majority of accidents occur close to home.

Attacking a person's drivers license, instead of his pocketbook is another thing and is being considered more and more by safety experts who are not afraid to call a spade a spade. They are saying a license should be tougher to get and tougher to keep. Instead of fines for convictions, suspend the license not for a few days but for a few weeks or months depending on the violation. Make license re-examination mandatory for everyone at fault in an accident whether fatal or not.
